How it works?

All equipment includes an ACMA approved LIU interface.
On confirmation of your order, A Music On Hold representative will contact you to discuss the production process. Whilst your production is created, an ALLPHONES technician will install your On Hold player with Music Only in the interim.
On completion of the production process, you will be emailed a password to download your personalised Music On Hold production. Connect the Music On hold player to your PC via the USB cable and simply drag and drop your new production to your Music On Hold player.
Co-operation between the customer and production team is essential to create the message in a timely manner. Failure to complete the production process means the music on hold player is supplied with Music only. No refunds are applicable if you choose this option.
